

Vincent Who?

Producer and co-director Curtis Chin (featured in the documentary) will host a Q&A Session following the film.

In 1982, at the height of anti-Japanese sentiments, Vincent Chin was murdered in Detroit by two white autoworkers. In response, Asian Americans around the country galvanized to form a real community and movement for the first time in American history. This compelling documentary, inspired by a series of town hall meetings organized by Asian Pacific Americans for Progress on the 25th anniversary of the incident, asks how far have Asian Americans come since then and how far do we have to go.
